

An aerial photograph showing a dense forest of green trees in the foreground, with a suburban town and residential houses visible in the middle ground. In the background, there are rolling hills and a range of mountains under a cloudy sky. The view is taken from a high vantage point, likely a cliff edge.

Mt Iron Scenic Reserve

Since it was opened to climbing by the Department of Conservation in 2001, Mt Iron has become an easy-access local climbing scene. These cliffs offer good atmosphere and a quick pump for the after work crowd, or a full pump for climbers wishing to push their limits. The crags are within walking distance of town and stay mostly dry in the rain.

MT IRON SCENIC RESERVE CRAGS

Access: The crags are reached from the Wanaka–Mt Iron–Albert Town walking track. Locate the DoC access gate on the east side of the Mt Iron Scenic Reserve and west of the residential neighbourhood on Old Racecourse Road, off Aubrey Road nearest State Highway 6. Please refrain from screaming, ranting or yelling profanities: there are suburban houses just below the cliffs.

NEXT BEST THING

A well-featured crag with steep routes and a good selection of grades to help build on your power endurance. The cliff is by nature gritty and a bit crumbly (helmet recommended). Some routes are possible in light rain.

Approach Time: 5 min

Access: From the access gate, walk north along the fence line for about 50m and find the cairn marking the track to your left.

IRONSIDE

A popular crag, with a concentration of quality routes on steep slabs and a few overhangs. A good warm-up crag for what lies ahead. Generally, the rock quality is good with just a few crumbly sections. Some routes are affected seasonally with bird droppings.

Approach Time: 5–10 min

Access: From the access gate, walk north along the fence line for about 200m until you reach the crag access track just a few metres from the cliff.

MIDDLE CURTAIN

This crag has a good selection of routes, from slabs to wildly overhanging. The rock quality is good, but the cliff is by nature gritty and crumbly in places, with the potential for some big bits to be pulled off. Helmets are recommended.

Approach Time: 10 min

Access: From the access gate, walk north along the fence line for about 200m, until you reach the crag entrance for Ironside. Then walk uphill about 50m.

IRON CURTAIN

This crag has wild exposure and an exciting atmosphere. It is a great cliff for climbers wishing to push their limits. The rock is mostly good quality with nice texture, but the veneer is sometimes crumbly in places. Many of the routes are climbable when it is raining.

Approach Time: 15 min

Access: Walk north along the fence line for about 200m until you reach the crag entrance for Ironside, then walk uphill about 150m.
